I took another way to come back than that I went, thinking I could easily keep all the island so much In my view, that I could not miss finding my first dwelling by viewing the country ; but I found myself mistaken., for, being come about two or three miles, I found myself descended Into a very large valley, but so surrounded with hills, and those hills covered with wood, that I could not see which was my way by any direction but that of the sun, nor even then unless I knew very well the position of the sun at that time of the day. It happened to my further misfortune, that the weather proved hafcy for three or four days while I was In this valley, and not being able to see the sun, I wandered about" very uncomfortable, and at last was obliged to find out the sea-side, look for my post, andf come back the same way I went; and then, by easy journeys, I turned homeward, the weather being exceedingly hot, and my gun, ammunition, hatchet, and other things, very heavy.

In this journey my dog surprised a young kid, and seized upon It, and I running to take hold of It, caught it, and saved it alive from the dog. I made a collar for this little creature, and with a string I led him along
